Art and Economy in Home Building!

No. 25—Designed by J. L. Cameron, Architect, for The S. H. Kleinman Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

Here is a small dwelling altogether "different" and yet not freakish. It has an architectural simplicity and consistency of outline rarely to be found in moderate-priced houses. The terrace roof admits of well-lighted upper rooms and breaks the monotony of a long slanting roof. The entrance is imposing for a home of this size. In the floor plans it will be noted the library, living room and sunroom run the entire depth on one side, adding materially to the effect of spaciousness. The dining room in the middle looks out upon a graveled terrace, in the center of which is a fountain. The breakfast nook also looks out upon the terrace and fountain. Aside from the terrace front and rear, a porch is provided, looking out over the rear terrace.

Citizens are judged by their homes, and the care they take in housing their families. It is a duty that is imposed upon every father and mother—to provide a sanitary, convenient home for the kiddies which providence has sent them.
